

THE ROCK

I have this Rock in my pocket that speaks to me. It says no one is greater than I, not Moses, not Peter, not John, not Paul. It also says there is no one lesser than I either, and my mind wanders to different historical and current names, and to my dearest friends.

“How can this be?”

“Because I have made us one. I have died for all, and have reconciled all men to our Father by My own precious shed blood.”

It tells me I am given a certain attitude, never to beg, never to be afraid, never to look for any other rock, and never to look outside of myself for anything. It tells me that I shall not find fault, shall not find error, shall not complain, for if I do, I am denying that there is only one God, one Spirit, one salvation, one Savior, one righteousness who is Christ the King, come in every man that cometh into the world. “To him that has a pure heart, all things are pure. I am the foundation and the finish of pure hearts, and I have made all things new. Faith has arrived to behold Me, the completion, in this hour. I have taught My own to not be fooled by appearance.”

My Rock says it is here to stay, tucked away forever, and no wise man’s words shall ever dislodge my Rock or make afraid. It says it is the final Word, positively free from blame or condemnation, free from confusion; the express image of my Father. Every man is swallowed up in light, whether he sees it or not. I, the Light am here and in all.

I asked My beloved Rock about the mind of Christ, and this is what I was made to understand. The mind of Christ is like a walk down the golden street with mansions after mansions of the Father’s City. Every mansion we pass issues forth it’s own touching song.

So, I thought, I must walk down this street to hear, and this is what I heard: KNEEL AT THE CROSS, JESUS PAID IT ALL, COME UNTO ME AND I WILL GIVE YOU REST, HE LEADETH ME, IN THE SWEET BY AND BY, COME UP HITHER IN THE SUN REALM, THE KING IS COMING and on and on. What different thoughts! Beautiful Light issued forth from each and every mansion, but how interestingly different were the messages of each song. Some sing of some glad day, and others sing that He is come. Some sing that it is finished, and some sing that we will work ‘till He come; with variations, waiting on a glory that perhaps is being overlooked.

I pondered this for a bit, and then My Rock explained. “In My Father’s House are many Mansions. Every Mansion is a song of faith, and every spoken message is a Word of faith. The beautiful thing about the mansions is that the sweet song of faith comes from all. My Father is well pleased in the faith of each mansion, for He loves all His children.”

“Now, I know you acknowledge that the Father accepts all acts of faith. Faith is I am, I am their faith. You are accepting with mercy, all men at their level of faith, receiving all men in perfect love, and are open to the winds of the Spirit, not allowing reasoning to enter in, you are the very mind of Christ.”

“I have given you peace, joy and righteousness”, sayeth the Rock, “and brought you into Myself. I have divided My sayings clearly unto you like rows of fresh growing flowers in My garden. I have given marriage between the visible and the invisible and unveiled the truth that both the seen and unseen are My Spirit.” You have been given the power to see and know Me.

“Guard Me carefully, and by the unction of the Spirit, unveil Me as it is given to you, for some are not ready and would deny My love in you, ridicule Me, not knowing who they themselves are; especially the wise and religious. All will know who in Divine order. In chosen order, The Son is acknowledged from within every being, and seen in every face as I reveal it to you. I will be seen in my people.”

“You know, We have been as ONE forever, and all this time you have waited to speak the Words I have given you. Your Word is you, and I say now is the time you are to come forth, as now is My appearing in earth to many, and in many.”

“You speak what I Am within, and it is heard by those whom I choose. I am here in this, My day, and I am far greater than any man’s interpretation of the written Word. I am far greater than any man has ever imagined and it cannot be put into words. I shall unveil Myself in my chosen order. Do not be afraid to speak forth, for this is the day of My appearing, and I will perform it. Speak that I am all in all, and hold not back.”

“I am not the author of fear, or unbelief, and I must be seen in My own.”

“Let us move along now, for I have many things for you to see. I will remain your warmth and your vision, and I will show forth My character in love.”

“When you speak, speak of that which is prepared from the beginning, and sealed unto all men at the cross. Declare My presence always.”
