

ACCEPTANCE...

Acceptance is the end result of the pain that I create from an ego based consciousness. It can never be a part of that realm where ego is in control. Acceptance is the fruit that grows from the tree of life. Ego grew from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. The ego driven man can only accept those who agree with his ideas of right and wrong. This is that consciousness that lives by the rules it has created for itself and that is not capable of accepting anyone who does not play by those rules.

Acceptance is part of the very fabric of my true nature. In reality and apart from the illusion that I have created, my nature is divine, it is unconditional love. Acceptance is just another word for this unconditional love. There is no such thing in existence as what we have labeled the sinful nature. To "sin" is to miss the mark which is the result of faulty vision. The ego driven mans vision is distorted therefore he cannot see clearly the bulls eye in his aim at the target.

In religion he shoots for something that he already is. Acceptance is a vibration, an attitude of the heart. Rejection is a vibration an attitude of the ego not influenced by the heart. The ego driven man is divisive and ultimately self destructive. The heart based conscious man is driven by love which reveals itself as acceptance. Acceptance is clear evidence that I have known the cross and that my ego driven man has died thereon.
