

I AM...

When I was a newly converted Christian, a Sunday school teacher told me that the more I give to others the more is given to me in return. He was speaking in terms of sharing what we have seen as we look to God for answers. I took what he said to heart and from that day to this I have proved to myself that what he told me is true, not only for me, but true on a universal level. I share basically for two reasons... the primary reason is it is fulfilling to find that someone has been uplifted by something I've shared. As for more being added to me as a result of sharing I long ago came to see that this phenomenon is automatic.

Once I come to know my sovereignty at the deepest level I become totally free from egos grasp. I know who I am and that I'm equal to all forms of life whether it be man, angel, and beyond. I then stand as the master knowing that I'm equal with God my Father simply because being an emanation, a projection of the Father my essence is his essence. We are one. Not two... ONE! This consciousness is dawning upon many of us today, and as this consciousness dawns upon man, it brings with it a Godly humility and impregnated within this humility is love minus any agenda except the fulfilling experience that always accompanies the love.

Religions cries Antichrist and some rail and pull their hair and religion would put us away if it was in power to do so. They picked up stones to throw at the master at one point because he said he was the son of God, because even in their day they understood that a "son of God" would have to be God
