

I CREATE MY OWN REALITY...

I create my own reality. This is true of all that is. Everything that is has consciousness fitted to whatever form Energy has taken. As man, I am an extension of this Creative Energy and I therefore create my own reality. AS man I also may have perhaps the highest level of consciousness on the planet. As far as I know the Seth channeling's were the first to shed light on the fact that I create my own reality. We know that whatever/whoever created all that exists is creative in its nature. We also know that everything that exists is extensions of this Creative Energy.

Whatever is real to me in my world today I have created it as the result of my thoughts and law of attraction. To whatever degree I become enlightened, my reality shifts producing change. We are hearing a lot these days concerning the "new earth." I see this "new earth" as synonymous with the shift in consciousness. There is a shift in consciousness that is taking place as I write this and you read it. Although there has been a paradigm shift in the consciousness of humanity, it's going to take time before we will witness any significant change in politics and government behavior etc.

One of the biggest temptations I need to watch for in these times is impatience. I need to remember that the hi-way/divine way is rest. I need to rest in knowing that as I rest, trusting the light that's being absorbed by many to effect/impact everyone on the earth I will eventually see the evidence I'm looking for to tell me the earth is in fact being transformed along with humanity. It is we who are light workers {there are many of us} that hold the future of the planet in our hands. There is nothing for me to do but to nurture this knowing.

Everything works by faith. If I believe, I create what I believe. I have not been placed on this planet and then abandoned. I am an extension of the energy that creates worlds. I am this Creative Energy personified. Deep within my being dwells Spirit. It has been with me through all the many forms of life I've known since before time began. This spirit is that part of me that was never born and will never die. It is what I am. It was before anything else existed. It came out of the fertile Creative Energy that is the Absolute source of all that is.

As soul in one sense I had a beginning. This "beginning" was when I as Spirit descended still lower in vibration which in turn produced an infinite number of souls. As Spirit, I am all of them. As a soul I am only one of many. Spirit created our souls and our souls created our physical bodies. No one can know when to place creation as we know it. One may safely say that it was a very long time ago measured by earth's time. So my soul, which is just Spirit stepped down, has been a collector of experience which in turn resulted in knowledge and expansion. It then knows everything I need to know to expand.

My soul is directly influenced by Spirit and I am directly influenced by my soul and indirectly by Spirit, that which I am. After all, all three, Spirit, soul and body are simply three different parts of the one Creative Energy. This Spirit has been expanding in knowledge through the many experiences of the infinite number of souls it has created ever since it birthed them through the cosmic explosion.

This explosion resulted in the infinite number of souls which were fragments of God hurled into space at the dawn of creation as we know it. So in knowing these things and just resting in the knowledge that I'm in good hands, I remove ego out of the way so that that which created me and animates me can reveal to me in it's own way the light that will lighten my path and cause me to be one that holds the light on planet earth so that it may attract others who are ready to ascend in consciousness.

So I as man have the option of asking my soul the questions, or I can go straight to the source/Spirit and wait for the answers to come and they most certainly will for both are that which created me. Anything that comes forth from source {all things did} is eternal for the eternal cannot birth anything temporal. All temporal things are illusions that I have created and all illusions are real, but only to he who creates them. I create my own reality. I am a dreamer and all my dreams are real. Mass consciousness has created the world {reality} as we know it.

As the light that is here on the earth now is absorbed by more and more who are opening to receive it, we shall witness the outer changes around us as our consciousness impacts the locale where we live then eventually the world. There is nothing that we can do to make it happen. We cannot "make" anything of eternal value happen, but we can allow it to happen as we open to the light that is here and wanting entry. In is in fact only by grace that we can even open or allow but grace desires it as much as I. We are what we are {at any time} by the grace of that which created us. May we all stay open to receive.