

IN THE TWINKLING OF AN EYE...?

I have never been able to identify with transformation or translation etc as being something that happens in the twinkling of an eye. We shall all be changed and we are being changed and actually we have been changing since we were expelled from the wombs of creation. As near as my mind {at this point in its renewing} can fathom, that birthing could have taken place many light years ago in earth's time.

All of these kinds of things are nebulas to me and that's ok for I have gotten a real hold on the most important thing which is to remember who I am. As this truth keeps dawning upon my dual consciousness, the double minded man I am today will be replaced and is being replaced by the new Consciousness. As this happens I will awaken from my sleep in his likeness. This just means I will be the total embodiment of loves expression.

I follow Paul's line of thinking here, not because Paul is anyone special, but it's just my feelings concerning what the church refers to as the rapture. It is strictly an individual, personal experience and it's a process. Since the beginning of creation many have gone on before me and there will be those who awaken after me. We are not going anywhere geographically speaking. The journey is within Consciousness. I believe this time around we are going to usher in the new earth.

It matters not at all if I pass through the doorway called death tonight. If I did I would just return swiftly, perhaps as one of the more advanced children. If I did not return as one of them, the wisdom I've gained will mean that I can learn from those with greater light at a much faster pace. I will of course bring with me all the truth and wisdom I have incorporated into my soul at this point.

All I'm saying is if we do not see the new earth in full bloom before we pass on back into pure positive energy, we have all the time we need for we are not of those who only live threescore years and ten. We've been on this journey for billions or maybe trillions of earth years and for an eternal soul, that's perhaps like five seconds out of the womb of creation.

☺ We are waking up but we are not there yet. All I have to do is look around to see that.
Waking up from the dream is by degrees.

In the greater reality, the reality we are awakening to... we will not know a body that is less than perfect in every way. We are approaching the time when the awakening that we are
