

QUOTES-N-COMMENTS...

"Nothing takes place only in a dream or only in the physical world or only on the mental plane."

This is why I came forth to create other realities.

"Humans do not live in the land of the Self, but in the land of the small self. It is your identification with your small self that creates your fear."

The "human"/"Small self" is a creation that resulted from the plunge that I deliberately took as the means to create this reality we refer to as illusionary. It is in this reality that I forget my true self. I forget that my thoughts are my creative power. This memory loss then in turn, results in me creating much by default. By entering into this self created maze I meet challenge after challenge. These challenges I encounter result in not only my own individual expansion, but the expansion of all that is. I am by inherited nature an illusion maker.

" The world needs mothering now."

We who are light workers can assist those who are struggling to keep their hopes for a better way.

“The universe supports an open heart. The universe waits for an open heart.”

“Blessed are the poor in spirit...” Attitude of openness.

“God takes different forms at different times to give the lesson of the moment.”

This might be person, place or thing, circumstances and/or situations. I am the creator of the forms. By creating by default I activate the law of attraction which in turn brings me the exact essence of my vibrational offering produced according to my thoughts.

“You are more than you have ever conceived. You are as the night sky. Vast! ”

I have no beginning and no ending for in God I live and move and have my Being.

" There is no life in belief; life is only in experience."

Experience is the ingredient that continually shapes my beliefs until my experience bares witness to the truth of the one being that I am.

“The problem with life today is....that the tree has not been seen as a unit.”

The tree is all inclusive leaving nothing and no one out of the equation

“Allow yourselves to dance and trust the grace within you,”

I am as free in my experience as I believe that I am, for it is only I that create my reality. My experience as opposed to truth is often deceiving. This is all part of the dream, the illusion that I have created, and all is going as I planned before I fell asleep.
