

Truth has only one desire/need. . . Only to be expressed. Its expression is both light and darkness. Who or what do I who am Truth's expression desire to be? It's always my choice; everything is and has always been my choice for there is no one or thing that exists beside me to have it any other way. Every man alive could say this. The master in the gospels had this awareness. Not in his head, but his heart.
