

WHAT ABOUT YOU...

I could of course be mistaken, but I believe it will not be very long until a lot of those who are so free to pass around the jokes concerning the president are going to look pretty foolish. I am amazed at some of those who are doing it. We are rapidly approaching the time when all who engage in putting others down for any reason are going to have to make a decision... do I want to stay on the planet and walk into the age of peace on earth and good will to all men, or find myself in another incarnation on a similar planet where putting down others is acceptable and oblivious to the fact that I've missed the flight.

It's not the end if this happens. I'll always have other opportunities. It all depends on what choices I make. All will make the flight sooner or later. The age that is about to open up before us is of a higher vibration, one that is not conducive to any vibration that is laced with judgment of any kind. Speaking or saying anything that would put another in a bad light will not be known in this soon to come age. It is purely the works of the ego/old creation/third density consciousness that in an effort to elevate itself puts others down. The old man feels justified in doing so, especially when he's "right". He dwells in a world he has created with it's foundation of "right and wrong, good and evil"

In the illusionary world of duality, evil is a reality. It is only a reality at the lower vibration levels. The age we are going into... even as I write this, is of a higher vibration. All who wish to ascend with the planet will have the opportunity to do so. This is the message I'm getting, and I believe it. If I sense there are areas where I need help with anything I only need call on the "Father of lights" that which created it all, and help will be given me. If you really take a minute to think about it what would this world be like without anyone judging another?

This is where the planet's consciousness is ascending to. I do not want to miss this flight. What about you...?