

The Unpardonable Sin

Has Been Pardoned

Scripture tells us that there is a sin against the Holy Spirit that is unpardonable. Have you really thought about what that means? We are taught that Jesus is the Savior of the world. It says 'if I be lifted up I will draw all men unto me.' It also says 'God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself not; imputing their trespasses against them.' We are taught that the blood of Jesus Christ cleanses us from all sin. If these statements are true how can there be an unpardonable sin?

For over twenty five years I have pondered what this unpardonable sin might be and could never get my thought around it; especially in the last ten years when I came to believe in the salvation of all mankind. If there's one sin that Jesus did not pay for on the cross then the blood has no complete power, it is limited.

In church we sometimes sing the song 'there is power, power, wonder working power in the blood of the Lamb...' If there is an unpardonable sin we had better stop singing that song because the work of the cross is incomplete.

I am here to tell you that the unpardonable sin has been pardoned. It was pardoned at the cross along with all the rest of the sins of the world.

Let me share with you an example, an earthly example of how to see this unpardonable sin. Let us say, that you were driving your car down the road and accidentally hit a child walking across the street and the child died. You are charged by the police officer, go before a judge and are sentenced to jail. You do your time for the crime and come out. Your debt is paid to society however you cannot forgive yourself for killing the child. You cannot pardon yourself for the sin you've committed. This is because your heart still grieves over what you have done and continues to condemn you not allowing you to forgive yourself even if all the others involved have done so including the child's parents. In effect you are not accepting their forgiveness or even that the debt has been paid. You are actually condemning yourself continuously which keeps you imprisoned because you reject the forgiveness even after the debt is paid. This is the unpardonable sin. It is something you do to yourself. It is self condemnation which does not allow you to accept forgiveness. It will actually stand in the way of God's mercy and grace. God has forgiven you of this sin and all other sins you have committed or may commit in the future. That is the beauty of the cross, he died once for all times, past, present and future. Accept His pardon, forgive yourself as He has forgiven you, and you will never have an unpardonable sin.

The unpardonable sin has been pardoned.
